

Although I understand that telemarketers need to make money to sustain their livelihood, I would prefer not to have unsolicited calls marketing products to me whether I want them or not. If I really want something, I will acquire it on my own, in my own manner, and in my own time. Thank you for listening to this citizen.